Case-Ready Stretch Film wrapped trays delivered in master packs

Stretch food wrap film provides a safe, consistent, high quality package throughout the retail chain that fits well with the just in time, cold chain central and regional packaging of meats and produce. Consumers perceive stretch wrapped foods as fresh, high quality products that are packaged in the store rather than at a central location. Processors also benefit from an economical and flexible packaging system to meet the needs of individual retailers and their markets.

Advanced Performance Films

We innovate and manufacture the highest standards in film performance, so processors can benefit from:

- greater yields
- increased productivity
- lower food waste
- consistent packaging
- high-quality consumer reception
- packaging performance matched to your supply chain
