

Food Quality Stretch Films for preserving perishables

engineered film performance for case-ready packer processing and in-store manual or machine wrapping

Filmco specializes in advanced performance stretch films for fresh meats, produce, mushrooms, freezer and specialty food items. Films are engineered and manufactured for optimum oxygen permeability, excellent sealability, wrapping machinability, tear, puncture and moisture management, and optically clear merchandising for each food application.

Environmental Stewardship

 For nearly two decades LINPAC has had a formal environmental policy, with the aim of reducing waste throughout all our operations. All our operating sites are committed to conserving resources, reducing energy consumption, minimizing emissions to air, water and soil while complying with all relevant environmental legislation, exceeding those standards where possible. Our plastics recycling plant is amongst the largest in Europe.

A significant proportion of product development is devoted to source reduction which saves natural resources, reduces waste and costs while improving packaging protection and preserving food freshness. We are leading the industry in developing thinner, lighter and higher performance films that continue to minimize food waste between food packers and the home.

Community Responsibility

All LINPAC manufacturing facilities around the world work actively within their local communities as part of our commitment to social responsibility.
